Are You Ready for Some Football?

Program Highlights Major Law Developments in Football

Saint Paul, MN (January 16, 2018)—The “Uncle Sam Worked Here” History Conversations series returns to Landmark Center with a special program, “Are You Ready for Some Football?” in advance of the Super Bowl LII. This free public program will delve into football-related issues in Minnesota law, highlighting major legal developments and litigation dating back more than a century.

The program will be held on Friday, February 2, from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. in Landmark Center’s historic Butler Courtroom 326. Light refreshments are provided, and guests are invited to bring bag lunches. The programs are free but require a reservation at 651.292.3063 or by email (kjohnson@landmarkcenter.org). The “Uncle Sam Worked Here” History Conversations series is supported by the Federal Bar Association, Minnesota Chapter. One credit of legal education CLE is pending approval.

Program Presenter, Marshall H. Tanick, is a partner with the law firm of Meyer Njus Tanick in Minneapolis. He is certified as a Senior Civil Trial Specialist by the Minnesota State Bar Association and represents athletes, coaches, and other participants in a variety of amateur and professional sporting activities. For 35 years, Tanick has represented clients in a wide variety of legal matters, with emphasis on employment law and constitutional law. He was selected as to the 2016 Minnesota Super Lawyers list.

The “Uncle Sam Worked Here” history conversation series explores historic decisions and activities of the U.S. District Court, relative to Landmark Center’s 20th century history as the former Federal Courts Building. The series was inaugurated in 2008 as an ongoing public program of “Uncle Sam Worked Here,” the permanent, building-wide exhibition that is open for viewing during building hours.
